
The Cedar Post

Cedar City, Utah

October 18th, 2016

OUTDOORS: Big bucks in your own backyard

Sometimes the biggest bucks are in your own backyard.

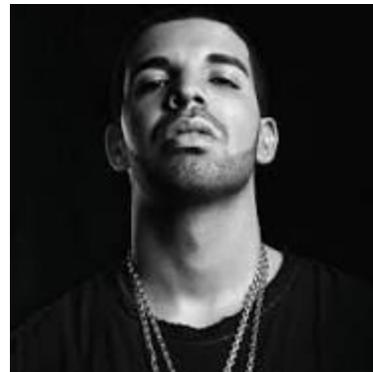

Author: Dustin Berrett

Hunting is a good, fun activity to get you out of the house and have some fun out in the mountains. Hunting is also a good way to get food for the family and some friends.

Along with this activity you can hike to find a good spot to stop and see if you can get the biggest buck you could ever imagine.

To hunt you will need to purchase a tag and be familiar with the area you will hunt. Camping could also be a fun way to sleep out in a tent in the mountains. Nothing like being around a campfire and all the good foods like s'mores, dutch oven potatoes, hamburgers, and hot dogs.

Some hunts that are available in the Utah are mule deer, moose, elk, bear, bighorn sheep, pronghorn, bison, rabbit, hare, squirrel, opossum, raccoon, porcupine, skunk, ruffed grouse, beaver, red fox, mink, muskrat, otter, mountain lion and bobcat.

MUSIC: Drake "Views" success from the top

Author: Juan Ramirez
Martinez

Many of you may have heard Drake's new album "Views" which just recently a milestone. Views has been steamed 1 billion times, the...

FASHION: 90s fashion trends are here

Author: Sanne Halma

Image source: Getty

The 90s brought forth a movement of carefree styles, yet still sophisticated. Grunge and minimalism were a trend. 'What goes around comes back around' is definitely what is happening to the 90s fashion trends right now.

Designers like Donatella Versace took inspiration from the streets and models like Kate Moss set trend after trend with her 'too cool to care' look. Think chokers, crop tops, ripped jeans and combat boots. Fashion.

became attitude. Music and fashion merged and the trends which are coming back now are everyone copied their idols styles.

With the rise of supermodels like Gigi & Bella Hadid and Kendall Jenner, it is the perfect time to introduce 90s fashion back in our lives.

It's hard to believe that most trends now, we're trends two decades ago. If you're keeping up with today's fashion movements, you probably know that leather biker jackets are making a comeback. Well, it is a surprisingly timeless trend.

It can be worn throughout the whole year and adds an instant edge to any look. While we're at it, leather has been a staple for a long time. With the return of Dr. Martens boots, there's not one look you can't rock this winter.

Our generation is one of the most stylish in history. We design, create, and establish new trends, but we also make old trends our own.

Instead of putting on a crop top and some wide legged jeans, we pair in with a flowy silk skirt. But we still can't get rid of the wide legged jeans, so we pair that with a flannel. All 90s trends with a little twist, that's what keeps it interesting.

You think a shirt around the waist is outdated? Think again! While back in the days a button-down tied around the waist was the ultimate style, today it is used to make a pulled-together outfit look a bit more casual.

Forget your basic little black dress and amp it up by putting on a white t-shirt underneath, layering is key.

Want to rock the 90s trends in 2016? Keep this in mind: effortless, carefree and grunge. However, go light on the grunge so that you balance it out with today's sleek aesthetic.

DRAKE continued from page 1... only Album on apple music to hit that record.

Drake showed off this accomplishment on Instagram with a picture of a him with Apple Music CEO Tim Cook and iTunes Eddy Cue and Apple's Music-head of content Larry Jackson...
continued page 3

MAKEUP: That 90s makeup is back

Author: Emily Osborn

Oh the 90s, most of us weren't alive back then and if you were you probably can't remember it all to well. But we've all heard of the famous 90s trends that are making a comeback right now; like crop tops, chokers, dark lips, and iridescent makeup.

I'm sure every girl that's interested in makeup has heard of the giant new trend of highlighters. From Jaclyn Hill's epic highlight collab with Becca Cosmetics and Anastasia Beverly Hills new highlighter palette the trend has sky rocketted.

With help from Instagram and YouTube the obsession with glowy skin. Iridescent and sparkly makeup was a pretty big deal in the 90s and it's coming back with more sophistication and a modern twist. My advice for a good clean highlight, is light dusting on the nose.

cheekbones and a dash on the bridge of your nose. Dark lips done well are a girl's best friend but if done wrong they can turn into a nightmare. The 90s was key for the dark and vampy look of deep red and maroon lips.

The look is coming back thanks to Kylie Jenner's new lip kits and liquid lipsticks featuring dark reds and deep browns, even black for those daring enough to try it.

So if you want to rock a dark lip my advice is go with a matte or a cream formula, the shiny glosses can look to messy or sticky, drawing away from the integrity of the look. Choose a shade that compliments your skintone.

To apply moisturize and exfoliate your lips before applying the gloss or lipstick after applying blot with a sheet of tissue and reapply a few times to ensure maximum longevity.

The 90s were an age of the best and the worst makeup, but hopefully we'll only see the best trends make a comeback.

DRAKE continued from page 2...

Drake, born 1986, is a Canadian-born citizen, he received recognition when he appeared in the teen drama, "Degrassi: The Next Generation" in early 2000's. Drake wanted to pursue his dreams and left the tv series in 2007 following the release of his debut mixtape, "Room for Improvement". He later released 2 more projects, "Comeback Season" and "So Far Gone, before signing into Lil Wayne's Young Money Entertainment in June, 2009.

In 2010, Drake released his next album. "Thank Me Later". Which debuted at number one and was soon verified platinum.

His next two releases, 2011, "Take Care" and 2013, "Nothing Was the Same" were a worldwide success and his first Grammy for "Best Rap Album".

With all his success, he created his own label, "OVO Sound" with longtime collaborator, Noah "40" Shebib. Along with his new clothing line Drake is also the ambassador of the Toronto Raptors.

HOROSCOPE

Author: Sanne Halma

Scorpio October 23 – November 21

There's a slight power-vibe, which could see you dealing with something with admirable resilience. That said; it's possible that the timing may be slightly off. It may even be that you need to remember and honor existing commitments and responsibilities, before embarking on anything new!

Sagittarius November 22 – December 21 Prepare yourself for a couple of busy weeks. There is hardly any time to breathe. Make sure you have enough energy to get through these weeks. Rest, eat healthy and get your priorities straight! Tip: you can prevent a lot of conflicts by not saying what you think out loud. Silence is golden!

Capricorn December 22 – January 19 Things on the home front, relationship front, and hobby front seem to be keeping you busy on the sidelines as well so you're busy, and therefore you don't have time for arguments about petty things like how you can be more effective at work, or how your proficiency levels Cancer June 21 – July 22 You're happiest when you're making everyone else happy. If you can see that glimmer in someone's eyes then you feel like you've done what you come to do and you don't really need more than that. Don't forget to look after yourself, you're just as important. can be improved. Go out for a change.

Aquarius January 20 – February 18 Challenging yourself this week is the name of the game, but you know whenever you try something completely new, you're not good at it right away. So expect to be moving slowly as though you're a five-year-old learning to play piano. Don't get too discouraged, and give yourself a break because you're already good at a lot of things and sometimes things take time.

Pisces February 19 – March 20 Opening up to someone in a deep and profound way isn't actually as easy as it sounds. You can have all the spiritual awakenings in the world and still find it hard to connect with other people on a soul level, and that's fine because you're not supposed to have those types of connections with everyone. the potential outcomes, but you really don't like it when something happens that isn't in your wheelhouse of what you thought might happen.

Taurus April 20 – May 20 You think everything is really pretty this month, and you refuse to believe there's anything ugly about this world. People are beautiful, the world is beautiful, there's even beauty in the ugliest of factories and poverty stricken urban areas. You're determined to prove that life in all its forms is beautiful, and nobody is going to stop you from having an optimistic outlook.

Gemini May 21 – June 20 If there's something you're really good at, it's seeing a situation for the way it is, and not the way everyone else seems to think it is. You could walk up to a married couple and even if they're kanoodling in the corner of a food court, you could tell them they're sad about their finances. It's this inherit psychic ability of yours that makes you see through all the illusions, despite also being very good at living within your own illusions. I guess that's the kicker right?Leo July 23 – August 22 Knowing what you want is the most important part of getting what you want, if you're unsure, even if there's a slight hesitance in you, you have to be aware of it, and work on figuring out where your heart and mind truly are. You'll never find happiness if you don't know where you want to be in life.

Virgo August 23- September 22 With everything on the move this week you're ready to get your hands a little dirty, even is that means creating friction between yourself and people who consistently rub you the wrong way. But business is business right, and while sometimes you don't have the stamina to deal with people who have draining, awful personalities, this month you will feel like a superhero.

Aries March 21 – April 19 You're truly in your element, being able to think, and delve deep into all the different aspects of your life in order to make the better, more informed decisions. You like to anticipate the unexpected, staying on your toes for all

Libra September 23 – October 22 If you're starting to feel that nothing has been going right and are starting to lose some of your usual bound and lust for life, then this month your energy and enthusiasm will be back with a vengeance. Wherever you go, you will make a lasting impression on someone who could quite possibly become a significant person in your life